

OH NO

THE DISRUPT

Long-awaited debut the MC-Producer of SoCal's Lootpack/Madlib/Wildchild camp.

OVERVIEW:

Oh No is the brother of indie hip hop icon Madlib (Madvillain, Quasimoto, Jaylib) and, just like his sibling, doubles as an MC-Producer. He debuted as an artist in his own right with a string of singles on Stones Throw and Groove Attack. The Disrupt is his long-awaited full-length feature.

Oh No's name has grown in recent years, with production work for numerous artists including Medaphoar, Wildchild's Secondary Protocol and Murs' The End Of The Beginning. The Disrupt follows Madvillain's Madvillainy as Stones Throw's second featured hip hop release of the year, but represents a fresh start in sound and approach. Madlib and J Dilla appear on production, with guest vocalists including Aloe Blacc, Wildchild, Decaime (Dudley Perkins) and Stacy Epps, but it's Oh No that shines with his own tracks Seventeen, Break and the album's first single, The Ride.
